Bathtime

This is from a photoshoot undertaken at the Amsterdam home of Vivid Dreamer, a professional model. This particular shoot ventured into the unconventional, as it sought to unveil the hidden charm of an unlikely setting—the bathroom.

As we approached the shoot, the bathroom initially seemed an unlikely choice for a photography backdrop, as it is typically regarded as a private sanctuary, a place where one seeks solitude away from prying eyes. However, something special awaited us within those walls.

The centerpiece of the transformation was an exquisite, old porcelain bathtub, exuding an aura of vintage charm and elegance. Bathed in the gentle embrace of warm sunlight that streamed through a strategically placed window, the atmosphere inside the bathroom took on an ethereal quality. The interplay of light and shadows created a soft and dreamlike ambiance, accentuating the timeless beauty of Vivid Dreamer as she posed amidst this captivating scenery. In this unexpected union of the intimate and the artistic, we learn that beauty knows no bounds, and even the most private spaces can become a canvas for creative expression.
