Relaxing

This is a series that was shot in the Amsterdam home of an experienced model, Vivid Dreamer. For the first part of the shoot, she was asked to wander about her house, to relax, and to pretend that she was having a home nudist day. In this series, we are transported into the realm of her private sanctuary as she embarks on a unique and liberating journey, uninhibited and free to roam her home without the constraints of traditional posing.

This series encapsulates the idea that a home should be a sanctuary for both relaxation and self-expression, where one can shed societal expectations and relish in their truest self. Vivid Dreamer's profound ability to embody this concept inspires viewers to reimagine their own living spaces as havens of tranquility, where they can be unapologetically themselves.
