Dubai Colorscrapers

Dubai is a new and modern city. It has sprung out of the desert over the last fifty years. The city is filled with iconic skyscrapers, luxury beaches, marinas, enormous shopping centers, and what seems to be the never ending sound of new construction. It is a city for those who work hard, and who shop and party even harder. During the day time, the bright equatorial sun shines brightly off of the steel and glass of Dubai's highrises. At night, these turn into a cacaphony of colored lights and spectacular reflections.

This series uses intentional camera movement techniques to capture the colors of Dubai at nightfall. Most of these images were shot from a riverboat as it meandered through the Dubai marina. Others were taken at the Burj Khalifa park. The lights from the skyscrapers, river barges, fountains, carnival rides and cars combine with one another in a wild, kaleidoscope of movement and color.
