

God Only Knows

God Only Knows

I may not always love you
But long as there are stars above you
You never need to doubt it
I'll make you so sure about it

God only knows what I'd be without you
If you should ever leave me
Though life would still go on believe me
The world could show nothing to me
So what good would living do me

God only knows what I'd be without you
God only knows what I'd be without you
If you should ever leave me
Well life would still go on believe me
The world could show nothing to me
So what good would living do me

God only knows what I'd be without you
God only knows what I'd be without you
God only knows
God only knows what I'd be without you
God only knows what I'd be without you
God only knows
God only knows what I'd be without you
God only knows what I'd be without you
God only knows
God only knows what I'd be without you
God only knows what I'd be without you
God only knows
God only knows what I'd be without you
God only knows what I'd be without you
God only knows
God only knows what I'd be without you

The song "God Only Knows" was written by Brian Wilson and Tony Asher for the Beach Boys, and it was released on their album "Pet Sounds" in 1966. Brian Wilson called the song "a vision" and said that it summarized everything he was "trying to express in a single song."

It has been forty years since I had the good fortune to have met Anneke. She has been my wife for the last thirty-nine years. Wilson's refrain--"God only knows what I'd be without you"--is no less true for me today than it was forty years ago. When I hear this song, it's Anneke's face I see.
